

SOUPALICIOUS DUKE Heights Returns for Another Helping on Sunday September 29th

Bring your appetite as well as your own spoon and join the DUKE Heights community for a soup-erb community celebration at SOUPALICIOUS DUKE Heights, sponsored and hosted by the DUKE Heights BIA.

This FREE community harvest celebration is not-to-be-missed. Enjoy tasty soups, farm-fresh corn and other delicious treats. Great LIVE MUSIC will accompany additional fun, family-friendly aspects of the event including face painting and an arts & crafts area for children. And for the first one hundred families, there'll also be a free pumpkin to take home.

"We look forward to welcoming our community to SOUPALICIOUS DUKE Heights," said Lia Martelluzzi, Executive Director of DUKE Heights BIA. "Please join us for a soup-er, fun time filled with good food, music and activities for all to enjoy."

DUKE HEIGHTS BIA is an association of more than 2500 businesses located in the area between Keele Street and Dufferin Street and between Steeles and Sheppard Avenue West. The BIA strives to engage in and maintain sustainable development through its own programming and partnerships that protect and enhance the environment and well-being of the neighborhood.

Plant-Grow-Share a Row encourages gardeners to plant an extra row of veggies to donate to their local food bank, helping provide fresh, locally-grown produce to folks-in-need. SOUPALICIOUS was created as the program's harvest celebration, helping local groups raise awareness and support for their food-growing and -sharing programs. Both programs are supported by The Compost Council of Canada, the national non-profit organization dedicated to advancing organics recycling and the return of organic matter back to our soils for ongoing health and vitality.
